Description of Subsamples.

This table describes the subsamples used in our main analysis.

Subsample	Description
Stage: Early	Respondents who answered that they specialize on seed- or early-stage companies and do not specialize on mid- or late-stage companies.
Stage: Late	Respondents who answered that they specialize on mid- or late-stage companies and not on seed- or early-stage companies.
Industry: IT	Respondents who answered that they specialize in the IT, software, or consumer internet industries and do not specialize in any industry other than those three.
Industry: Health	Respondents who answered that they specialize on the healthcare industry and do not specialize in any other industry.
IPO Rate: High	Respondents whose VC firm has at least 10 exited investments over the past ten years and has an above-median % IPO rate for those investments.
IPO Rate: Low	Respondents whose VC firm has at least 10 exited investments over the past ten years and has a below-median % IPO rate for those investments.
Fund Size: Large	Respondents who reported an above-median committed capital for their current fund. If a response was not given, the fund size from Venture-Source was used.
Fund Size: Small	Respondents who reported a below-median committed capital for their current fund. If a response was not given, the fund size from Venture-Source was used.
Location: CA	Respondents whose LinkedIn profile indicates they are located in California. If this information is not available, the firm headquarters location is used.
Location: OthUS	Respondents whose LinkedIn profile indicates they are located in the U.S. but not in California. If this information is not available, the firm headquarters location is used.
Location: Fgn	Respondents whose LinkedIn profile indicates they are located outside of the U.S. If this information is not available, the firm headquarters location is used.

Table A.8

Target Returns and Performance Expectations.

The first section reports the mean and median net IRR that respondents market to LPs as target. The second section reports the same statistics for net multiple of invested capital. The third and fourth section reports VCs expectations for their performance and the performance of the VC industry, both relative to the market.

Table A.20

Correlation Between Subsample Membership Indicators.

This table lists the correlation between indicator variables for subsample membership. In VS refers to VC firms in Dow Jones VentureSource. Correlations between two opposing subsamples are greater than -100% when the subsamples do not partition the sample space. For example, the correlation between the Large and Small indicators is -85% because respondents with no fund size were in neither the Large nor the Small subsample.

Survey of Venture Capitalists

Introduction

Thank you for helping Stanford Graduate School of Business, Harvard Business School, and the University of Chicago Booth School of Business learn about venture capital. Your response will help us to learn best practices in venture capital, market venture capital to policy makers and the public, and guide academic research.

This survey is designed to take between 15 and 20 minutes. Your responses are strictly confidential and will be used only for non-commercial research purposes. Click here for more details.

If you provide an email address, we will give you an early look at the complete survey results that will allow you to compare your responses to your peers. You will also be invited to a special early presentations of results held at Stanford, the University of Chicago, and Harvard.

Thank you!
